Memorial Exercises.

Last Friday the senate and house met in joint session to hold Memorial Exercises of the deceased members of the house. Hon. E. B. Ragsdale of Fairfield, Hon. J. G. Redfern of Chesterfield, and Dr. J. G. Richards of Kershaw: The formal resolutions were introduced by Hon. W. J. Johnson, Mr. Ragsdale's successor. The following clippings from the State will be read with interest in this county which Mr. Ragsdale so well represented and in which he was so much beloved.

Mr. Johnson was a colleague of Mr. Ragsdale for two years, and as a colleague he spoke of his deceased friend. He described the manly virtues of Mr. Ragsdale who was a positive character, a lawyer of scholarly attainments who had achieved much success, a man of great courage. Mr. Ragsdale had by an almost unanimous vote of his people been sent to the general assembly. Even with the fatal disease causing him suffering he labored diligently, earnestly and aldy.

Mr. Prince of Anderson paid a glowing tribute to Mr. Ragsdale's ability as a lawyer. He then spoke of him as a courageous, manly man, a fair fighter in debate and a scrupulously honest and exceedingly valuable legislator.

Speaker Stevenson took occasion to pay a tribute to the memory of each of his departed friends. He spoke with much feeling of the manliness and characteristic tone of Mr. Ragsdale's letter of resignation.

Don't Be Afraid Of Work.

One thing that keeps young men down in their fear of work. They are afraid of the "big" things. They do not like to get their shoulders under the wheel, and they prefer to give orders to others or figure as masters and let some one else do the drudgery. There is no doubt that indolence and laziness are the chief obstacles to success.

When we see a boy who has just secured a position take hold of everything with both hands and "jump right into his work," as if he meant to succeed, we have confidence that he will prosper. But if he stands around and asks questions when told to do anything; if he tells you that this or that belongs to some other boy to do, for it is not his work; if he does not try to carry out his orders in the correct way; if he wants a thousand explanations when asked to run an errand and makes his employer think that he could have done the whole thing himself, one feels like discharging such a boy on the spot, for he is convinced that he was not cut out for success. That boy will be cursed with mediocrity or will be a failure. There is no place in this century for the lazy man. He will be pushed to the wall.—Success.

Danger of Commercialism.

One of the greatest dangers that threaten American institutions today, is commercialism. Our strenuous life, with its hurrying and driving to get rich, tends to foster the spirit of greed and traffic hunger; and this spirit, in turn, tends to develop our material and coarser faculties. Materialism is written all over American life to-day. In the anxious pursuit of dollars, many feel that they cannot afford time to develop their social side. A foreigner visiting America for the first time, without knowledge of the business methods of its people would get an idea that nearly every business man in the country had lost a pearl, and, oblivious of everything else, was desperately searching for it.

The fairest, the most beautiful possibilities of our civilization are too often trampled under foot in the mad race for money, as if wealth were the only good; fame, or notoriety, the great desideratum and political power, the supreme object of life.—Dr. O. S. Marden, in Success.

Rising Rapidly.

The following paragraph from the Philadelphia Enquirer will be read with interest here, where Mr. Baruch's mother spent her early days:

The substantial decline in Amalgamated Copper has brought into prominence a man who, though he has been well known to the inner circles of Wall street for some time, has not hitherto been generally conspicuous because of his abhorrence of self advertisement that is not often found among Wall street men. The man is Bernard M. Baruch, a partner in the big house of A. A. Houseman. Anyone who gives attention to wall street matters hears much of Wormser, Field, Oliver, Content, etc, but he hears nothing of Baruch. Yet Baruch is more active, more successful, more shrewd and more powerful than any and all of them. He works quietly and without show and without any aid whatever from a press agent. Yet Baruch has done wonderful things in the relatively few years he has been in Wall street and, in the opinion of the men who know him, he has attained a position and reputation for shrewdness, foresight and nerve in combination that is only second to that of the veteran Keene. From the beginning of the Amalgamated Copper downfall Baruch of all the big men, has been the only one who has had the proper idea of what was going on, and instead of suffering, as other wise ones have done, he and his friends have profited wonderfully. He has never missed a move in the copper game and he has frustrated every attempt to twist him. What he has done in Amalgamated reminds one of what Keene used to do sugar in the market. He will be a leader in many ways in the future.

The Best Prescription for Malaria
Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No Cure, No Pay. Price 50c.

The Canadian editor who prepared the unnered market report had a happy conception of life and a good tab on things as they are:

Young men unsteady; girls lively and in demand; coffee considerably mixed; fresh fish active and slippery; wheat grain better than barley; eggs quiet, but will probably be open in a few days; whiskey steadily going down; onions strong and steadily rising; breadstuffs heavy; boots and shoes, those in the market soled and steadily going up and down; hats and caps, not as high as last fall, except fools cap, which is stationary; tobacco very slow and has a downward tendency; money close enough to get hold of; feathers light and going up; iron firm; butter growing stronger; opium a drag on the market; advice good, but no demand.

Stops the Cough and works off the Cold.
Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cure a cold in one day. No Cure, No Pay. Price 25 cents.

The following hints are for farmers who think and work. If you have failed to sow oats prepare your land thoroughly this month and sow in February. On lots that are fertile or on bottom land the Black winter oats, or the Dart oats are a sure crop. They are early. The Western red rust proof are ten days earlier than the late varieties. By all means try for an oat crop. You cannot afford to buy corn at $1 a bushel to feed horses. Prepare a lot for sorghum and plant the amber cane early in April. That will be ready to feed in July. German millet sown early will give fine forage early in the summer. Only one cutting can be made of that. You will need horse food and the need will be pressing. Prepare the earliest food crops possible.—Carolina Spartan.

"Lady," said Meandering Mike, "would you give a starvin' man somethin' to eat?" "Perhaps. But you're not starving." "I know it, lady. But an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, ain't it?"—Washington Star.

The Popularity of Rugs.

During the past twenty-five years a considerable change has been effected in the treatment and furnishing of floors. This seems a short period in which to reckon when the history of floor coverings dates from far back before the Christian era, even to the ancient days of Egyptian splendor. Prior to this time primitive ages had adopted the fur skins of wild beasts to make a comfortable foothold in their habitations. The Babylonians were renowned for their weaving of rugs and the ornamentation they introduced. From them the art was passed on to the Persians and the people of India, and so through Asia and Eastern Europe, and after the Renaissance, to France and England. In this country rugs are becoming more and more in demand in place of carpets. From a hygienic standpoint, according to The Delineator they are much to be preferred. In the February number is an interesting article on floors and their coverings which will be highly appreciated by the practical householder.

Seed Distribution.

Hon. Jos. T. Johnson, member of Congress from the Fourth District, ask us to say this:

"In sending out vegetable seed I have tried to make the distribution general. I have not taken any special pains to afford any special advantage to any one. I have simply sent out what I have. I have not taken any special pains to afford any special advantage to any one. I have simply sent out what I have. I have not taken any special pains to afford any special advantage to any one. I have simply sent out what I have."

After Mr. Wilborn's Scalp.

The State of Wednesday says: The job of railroad commissioner seems to be a luscious plum. Mr. J. C. Wilborn, the incumbent, will have a hard tussle to succeed himself. Among those who are after his scalp are Senator B. L. Caughman of Saluda, the "Jim-Crow car man," Mr. H. J. Kinard, representative from Greenwood; Mr. J. G. Welling, representative from Fairfield; Mr. W. Boyd Evans of Columbia, and Mr. Jim Cansler of Tazewell.

The Editor's Job.

Editing a paper is a nice job. If we publish jokes, people will say we are rattled brained; if we don't we are an old fossil. If we publish original matter, they say we don't give enough selection; if we give selections, they say we are too busy to write. If we do not go to church we are heathens; if we do we are hypocrites. If we remain in the office, we ought to get out and hustle for locals; if we go out, we are not attending to our business. If we wear old clothes they laugh at us; if we wear good clothes they say we have a pull.—Tarrytown (N. Y.) News.

If a Woman

wants to put out a fire she doesn't heap on oil and wood. She throws on water, knowing that water quenches fire. When a woman wants to get well from diseases peculiar to her sex, she should not add fuel to the fire already burning her life away. She should not take worthless drugs and potions composed of harmful narcotics and opiates. They do not check the disease—they do not cure it—they only add fuel to the fire.

Bradfield's Female Regulator should be taken by every woman or girl who has the slightest suspicion of any of the ailments which afflict women. They will simply be wasting time until they take it. The Regulator is a purifying, strengthening tonic, which gets at the roots of the disease and cures the cause. It does not drug the pain, it eradicates it. It stops falling of the womb, leucorrhoea, inflammation and periodical suffering, irregular, scanty or painful menstruation, and by doing all this drives away the hundred and one aches and pains which drain health and beauty, happiness and good temper from many a woman's life. It is the one remedy above all others which every woman should know about and use.

$1.00 per bottle at any drug store.

The Culture that is Best.

Knowledge, thought, common sense—these are the equipment of the head. Affection, sentiment, sympathy—these are the equipment of the heart. We call the equipment of the head the culture of the head. We call the equipment of the heart the culture of the heart. After all, which does the world need most, the culture of the head or the rich culture of the heart? After all, which is the best for a man or woman, which will send us on most happily and helpfully in life, a sufficient equipment of knowledge, which is the power of the head, or a sufficient equipment of sympathy, which is the power of the heart? Oh, it is sad to see the fool of a withered head, but it is pitiful to see the fool of a withered heart. And it is well that we receive with high honor the names of men of genius and of wisdom, but the name that is above every other name that is named is the name of Him who came unto men with the divinest gift of a tender and loving human heart.—Sunday School Times.

For Over Fifty Years.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Sold by all druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. 1-1-17.

Senator Iderton's bill to amend the constitution so as to prevent attorneys of railroad and other corporations from holding seats in the general assembly will come up in the senate on its second reading in a day or two. As the majority of the members of the senate are lawyers, and some of them are corporation lawyers, and the others would like to be, it is not difficult to foretell the fate of the measure. However, Mr. Iderton will press the bill and he may call for an aye and no vote on it.—The State.

The negro majority in South Carolina decreased from 1890 to 1900 very materially. The negro population in 1890 was 149,117 to every 100,000 whites. In 1900 it was 140,249 to every 100,000 whites. If proper efforts were made to get white immigration the state would have a white majority in a few years.—Newberry Observer.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure
Digests what you eat.

The city and exposition police authorities of Charleston are endeavoring to recover a valuable necklace which was stolen from the woman's building several days ago. The necklace is in charge of the New York express office, where it is held subject to call. The party to whom it is addressed has evidently scented trouble and he is fighting shy of the office, fearing arrest. The company refuses to deliver the necklace to the police authorities. The necklace is an old family heirloom, being more than 200 years old. The New York authorities have been communicated with, and a close vigilance is being kept on the express office for the man who calls for the stolen package.

According to Magistrate Jones of Anderson in a decision upon a test case that has come up before him, stable manure is personal property. The case it is said will be appealed. Whether the higher court will sustain this view of the question is not for us to say. But what we would especially urge upon our farmers is that they do all they can these days towards making stable manure with which to fertilize their lands.

Great Improvements.

"I see," remarked the observant boarder, "that meals are to be served in Chicago street-cars." "When," asked his neighbor, "will sleeping-cars be put on the Philadelphia street railways?"—Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

"Seems to me I've met you somewhere, sir. I can't recall your name, but I'm sure I've been in your company before." "I think not, sir, but you know best. I'm the keeper of the House of Correction."—Pick-Me-Up.

In the Dining-Car.

He: "Isn't it delightful to be dining together without a chaperon?" She: "I should say so! Marriage is certainly a great economy."—Puck.

Not Fitted for It.

The religion of the new secretary of the Treasury, Governor Shaw, is of a decidedly Puritanical type. He is opposed to dancing and to all hard drinks. While Governor of Iowa, wine and liquor were never served at any function or social gathering in his home.

DO YOU GET UP

WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

Chicken Arithmetic.

"If there were twenty chickens in a coop," said the teacher, who was trying to fasten the attention of her class of colored children, "and two were missing one morning, how many would you have?"

"Of course," said Miss Goldrox's lover, "I realize that your daughter is an heiress, but I assure you that I would be just as anxious to marry her if she were a pauper." The vote for the establishment of a new county with Dillon as county seat resulted in an overwhelming defeat for the new county scheme.

"That settles you," replied her lover, "the issue is won."—Philadelphia Press.

February 7 and 8 will be South Carolina Day at the Charleston exposition. The legislature will adjourn and attend one or both of these days.

The Truth published at Spartanburg has been bought by J. T. Harris, who will consolidate it with the semi-weekly Herald. Gen. Stöppelbein will return to the practice of law.
